

Avraham Shtub

Avraham Shtub is the Sharon and Stephen Seiden professor of Project Management in the Industrial Engineering and Management faculty at the Technion – Israel Institute of Technology. He is the Associate Dean, head of the MBA program.

Professor Avraham Shtub has a B.Sc in Electrical Engineering from the Technion Israel Institute of Technology (1974), an MBA from Tel Aviv University (1978) and a Ph.D in Management Science and Industrial Engineering from the University of Washington (1982).

He is the recipient of the Institute of Industrial Engineering 1995 “Book of the Year Award” for his Book “Project Management: Engineering, Technology and Implementation” (co-authored with John Bard and Shlomo Globerson), Prentice Hall, 1994. He is the recipient of the Production Operations Management Society 2002 Wick Skinner Teaching Innovation Achievements Award for the book: Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP): The Dynamics of Operations Management, Kluwer.

He has been a consultant to industry in the areas of project management, risk management, and the design of production - operation systems. He was invited to speak at special seminars on these topics in Europe, China, North America and South America. He was a visiting Professor at the Sasin Graduate School of Management Chulalongkorn University Thailand (the Kellogg MBA program) and at the Owen Graduate School of Management of Vanderbilt University.